

Peace On Campus, And Hope For Peace In The World

Published on Sep 22, 2012

-- ST PHOTO: SEAH KWANG PENG

Singapore Management University international students striking a pose in their national costumes to commemorate the United Nations' International Day of Peace yesterday. The university marked the day by celebrating cultural diversity on campus. The 33 students carried their respective country flags and recited the peace pledge in their native languages.