

Close to 90% of fresh graduates employed in 2013: Joint university survey

Published on Feb 28, 2014
12:58 PM

Crowd at the Nanyang Technological University (NTU) Career Fair held on Feb 18, 2014. About nine in 10 graduates from the National University of Singapore, NTU and Singapore Management University were able to find employment within six months of finishing their final examinations. -- ST FILE PHOTO: LAU FOOK KONG

By Amelia Teng

About nine in 10 graduates from the National University of Singapore (NUS), Nanyang Technological University (NTU) and Singapore Management University (SMU) were able to find employment within six months of finishing their final examinations.

This is according to the results of a joint graduate employment survey conducted by the three universities. A total of 10,534 full-time, fresh graduates took part in the survey.

As of Nov 1 last year, 89.3 per cent of their graduates found jobs, with 83.4 per cent of them having full-time permanent jobs.

The average gross monthly salary among fresh graduates in full-time jobs was $3,229, while the median gross monthly salary was $3,050. These figures are comparable to what fresh graduates received in 2012.

Details of the survey findings can be found at www.moe.gov.sg/education/post-secondary/