Qatar International Petroleum Marketing Company Ltd (Tasweeq) has hosted a team of students from Singapore Management University (SMU) at its headquarters in Doha.

The visit by the SMU delegation is part of a 12-day business and cultural study trip to the Middle East organised by the university's Office of Global Learning (OGL), together with a team of students.

Tasweeq CEO Saad al-Kuwari welcomed the students, saying: "Tasweeq aspires to become a centre of excellence and the premier source of regional oil and gas marketing and logistics information. Tasweeq has an active presence in Singapore through our representative office. I am proud to host the students and introduce our company to the decision-makers of the future."

Planning and performance director Abdulaziz al-Meer made a presentation on Tasweeq for the SMU delegation, comprising 30 students and two OGL staff. During the presentation, al-Meer introduced Tasweeq's formation, products and exports markets as well as the Graduate Development Programme dedicated to fresh Qatari graduates.

Elain Sim, assistant director of International Student Experience (OGL), said: "We thank the Tasweeq management for welcoming us at its offices in Doha. Our students enjoyed the presentation as it was an interesting learning experience."
