

Full scholarships for Vietnamese to study at Singapore universities

TUOITRENEWS
11/21/2013

Vietnamese students are seen looking for information on study in Singapore at an education fair in Can Tho City, Vietnam in this file picture. Tui Tre

Vietnamese Ministry of Education and Training is calling for applications from local students for full scholarships to study for a degree at the National University of Singapore, Nanyang Technological University, and Singapore Management University, starting next year.

The Singapore government will supply scholarship winners with full tuition and a living allowance (covering meals, transport, textbooks, and course materials) per academic year. Return air tickets to Singapore and accommodations will also be arranged for scholarship recipients.

Scholars are expected to return home to contribute to the development of their country upon graduation.

Candidates must be high school or first/second-year college students who are enrolled in a full-time program.

Applicants must be in good academic standing and be able to speak English well as interviews and classes will be conducted in English. Priority will be given to those who have satisfactory TOEFL or IELTS scores.

Publication: Tuoitrenews
Date: 21 November 2013
Headline: Full scholarships for Vietnamese to study at Singapore universities

Applications in English and Vietnamese must be submitted online at <https://tuyensinh.vied.vn/> and sent to the Vietnam International Education Development office at 21 Le Thanh Tong, Hoan Kiem District, Hanoi by December 1.

Detailed information regarding eligibility can be obtained at http://vied.vn/vn/content/thongbao/tuyensinh/thong-bao-tuyen-sinh-di-hoc-dai-hoc-singapore-nam-2014_48375.aspx and http://www.scp.gov.sg/content/scp/scholarships/singapore_scholarship.html