

Publication: Forbes Online
Date: 01 April 2019
Headline: The Fun Empire

The Fun Empire

Cofounders, The Fun Empire

Natasha Toh and Ryan Ho are the founders of The Fun Empire, a Singapore-based team building and events company that creates and curates exciting experiences for its customers. Ho is a former Singapore national youth soccer player, while Toh was formerly a competitive netball player. Since its establishment, the company has organized thousands of events and has clients such as Google, Facebook, Apple, Disney, Nike, Goldman Sachs, Citibank, and the National University of Singapore.